1. This Office action is in response to Applicant, Response, filed on 1/15/2004.

2. Claims 1-22 are pending.

3. The rejection to claims 1-22 under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Pargee, Jr in view of Stern as set forth in the Office action mailed on 10/15/2003 is maintained. See below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 5. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pargee, Jr. (U.S. Pat. No. 4,422,093) in view of Stern (U.S. Pat. No. 6,591,247).

As per claims 1, 3-6, 8, and 10-22, Pargee substantially discloses a virtual service that employs the full facilities of a satellite television communication channel, comprising the steps of:

obtaining information about earnings and expenses based on expenses incurred by content providers (content providers or satellite television broadcasting, cable television) supplying users with recording devices compatible with contents offered by the providers (see., abstract, col 3, lines 15-30, col 6, lines 18-38). Pargee fails to explicitly discloses advertisements and fees included in the contents. However, Stern discloses an advertising and payment method/system to disseminate information concerning multiple products. The advertisements information is associated with various products or contents (see., abstract, col 1, lines 37-67, col 3, lines 12-32, col 4, lines 46-67, it is obvious to recognize that satellite or cable broadcastings provide earnings for service provide to consumers). Therefore, it would have bee obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the television burst service of Pargee by including the limitations detailed above as taught by Stern because this would advertise consumers in the television industry while ensuring that consumers is ready to perceive the message content of the advertisement.

As per claims 2, and 9, Pargee discloses the claimed method wherein said services constitute electronic commerce practiced by virtual shops (see., abstract, specifically wherein it is stated that a virtual service that employs the full facilities of a television communication channel on an intermittent basis, col 3, lines 3, lines 19-67).

Art Unit: 3621

As per claim 7, Pargee discloses the claim method wherein said recording devices each include a hard disc drive (fig 4, col 7, lines 17-50).

RESPONSE TO ARGUMENTS

6. Applicant's arguments filed on 1/15/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

REMARKS

- 7. In response to Applicant's arguments, Applicant argues that the prior art of record Pargee 093" and Stern 247" singularly or in combination fail to anticipate or render obvious the recited feature:
- a. "a managerial method and system, as instantly claimed, wherein, for example, information about earnings and expenses incurred by content providers are obtained based upon the providers, expenses for supplying users ...". However, the Examiner respectfully disagrees since Pargee discloses a managerial method/system for transmitting images via television broadcasting, cable television, satellite broadcast or beam radio wave relay see., col 3, lines 15-30. B "advertisements and fees included in the contents". However, Stern discloses an advertising and payment method/system to disseminate information concerning multiple products. The advertisements information is associated with various products or contents (see., abstract, col 1, lines 37-67, col 3, lines 12-32, col 4, lines 46-67, it is obvious to recognize that satellite or cable broadcastings provide earnings for service provide to consumers). Therefore, it would have bee obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the television burst service of Pargee by including the limitations detailed above as taught by Stern because this would advertise consumers in the television industry while ensuring that consumers is ready to perceive the message content of the advertisement.
